Preference Ball Plans Are Announced By Committee

Straighten that tie, shine those shoes, and don't neglect that haircut fellows, 'cause the girls are doing the choosing again. The annual Preference ball is coming up fast, and you're all in the running for the lucky Preferred Man of 1950. The dance is set for December 2.

Ballots will be cast Monday, Nov. 20, through Wednesday, Nov. 22, in the Joseph Smith lobby for Preferred Man. Each girl will cast one vote for the Preferred Man, and list three fellows in the order of preference for her date to the ball.

Upperclassmen will have first choice regardless of the time when the ballots are cast. Addresses must accompany the names to assist the committee in sending out invitations.

The Preference ball is an annual affair sponsored by the AWS. General chairman is Lillie Belle Petersen, Mesa, Ariz., with the following committee members: Sherrone Robertson, Spanish Fork, banquet; Luana Merrill, Wilmington, Del., decorations; Barbara Reinsch, Whittier, Calif., entertainment; Gene Anderson, Mesa, Ariz., refreshments; Suzanne Fiske, Salt Lake City, publicity; Bettie Jane McGuire, Fontana, Calif., balloting; and Barbara Smith, AWS Council representative from Grace, Ida.

Ruth Ellen May, Baker, Ore., is chairman of the assembly which will be held November 30.

Senior Project Announced By Class Officers

For centuries to come, a double row of stately Ginkgo trees will stand in front of the Science building as a monument to the class of 1951.

After a series of class meetings, during which several other possibilities were eliminated, the senior class decided upon this project as a fitting gift to their beloved alma mater. This week, an active committee headed by Jarrett Jarvis, will launch a campaign for funds, according to Gene Shumway, senior class president.

Each senior will be contacted by one member of the central committee, whose members were handpicked for qualities of leadership and dependability. All seniors will be asked to contribute a minimum of $3.00. Since the amount requested is so slight, 100 per cent participation is expected.

Dance Ducats Sales Continue

Tickets are now on sale in the Smith lobby for the Homecoming Dance to be held Saturday night. The Homecoming Theme will be carried out for the decorations.

Tickets for the Herds and Hoses affair are $1.00 per couple.

The committee for the dance includes: Kay Johnson, Rozell Sehn, Keith Walker, Luana Guyman, CleverGumson, and Marjorie Thompson.

Cougarettes To Present Game Program

An elaborate pre-game and halftime show is being planned for the Homecoming football game, Saturday, in the Brigham Young University stadium between the BYU Cougars and the University of Wyoming Cowboys, according to Dave Crowton, athletic staff member in charge of ceremonies.

The Cougarettes, attractive costumed marching unit, will start the show with a number of formations and demonstrations, at 1:45 p.m., Saturday. Following their appearance, the flag raising ceremony under the direction of the Sea Scouts will be held. The game will begin at 2 p.m.

Halftime show will include a salute to Wyoming by the Cougarettes and the BYU band; crowning of the Homecoming queen with fanfare music from the band; a short talk by Clyde D. Sandgren, president of the BYU Alumni Association, and a showing of the prize-winning floats from the Homecoming parade.

Plans for the colorful Homecoming parade are moving ahead, according to Don Tucker, Provo, student chairman of homecoming. Entry of floats is expected to start at least equal that of last year, and the number of marching units will also be one of the largest in BYU history.

Eugene W. Hill, graduate assistant in the Bureau of Audio-Visual Instruction, was elected President of the Utah Audio-Visual Association during the recent Conference of the Utah Education Association in Salt Lake City.

75th Homecoming Features Wyoming Game, Parade

by Dorothy Bartels

A full schedule of events is promised students and returning alumni attending Brigham Young University's 75th annual Homecoming on November 11.

A pep rally on Friday night in the Joseph Smith auditorium at 7, will be the beginning of the celebration.

Six of the candidates for the Homecoming Queen's crown were eliminated in last week's primary elections. The six remaining candidates are Vada Johnson, Julie Johnson, Marilyn Turley, Pearlne Crowley, Lucille Green, and Ellen Schipper.

The three finalists, chosen from these six, will be presented to the studentbody during the Homecoming assembly on Thursday morning. The two runners-up in the contest will be attendants to the queen.

Over 40 floats, sponsored by social units and various other groups, are expected to participate in the Homecoming parade on Saturday morning. Prizes will be awarded for the most unique, most beautiful, and most humorous floats, as well as for the float most clearly illustrating the Homecoming theme, "Diamond Diary." The AMS is sponsoring and building the float for the queen and her attendants.

High school bands from all over Utah county have been invited to take part in the parade, which will be led by the BYU Marching band.

The parade will start at Pioneer park, and wind its way east along Center street to University on Saturday morning, 9 to 11:30 a.m., and then to the upper campus.

A special Homecoming assembly of the alumni will follow the parade.

The Homecoming game with the University of Wyoming will be played Saturday afternoon. Plans have been made for a special program of halftime activities, highlighted by the presentation of the queen.

Following the game, all the social units will hold openhouses for their former members.

The Homecoming ball, which is heels and hose, will be held Saturday night in the Joseph Smith ballroom and Social hall, as the climax to the festive week-end. The coronation of the queen will be the high point of the ball.

As an added feature, the Y will be lit by the B.Y.U. on Saturday night.

Dr. Wesley P. Lloyd, Dean of Students, is the general chairman for the Homecoming, while Don Tucker is student chairman.

Law, Six Others Attend Leadership School

Dr. Reuben D. Law, dean of the college of education at Brigham Young University will head a group of six delegates from the BYU who will attend the professional leadership school of the Utah Education Association in St. George, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday.

Besides Dean Law, those to attend are Dr. A. Reed Morrill, professor of educational administration; Dr. Arlene K. Ramsey, professor of philosophy of education and guidance; Edith R. Bauer, assistant professor of secondary education; and Dorothy N. Candlish, assistant professor of elementary education. David Hill, president of the student chapter of UEA, will also attend.

The leadership school will have representatives from all the school districts in the state participating in the scheduled events. These events will consist of study groups and working discussions in which various phases of education will be handled.

Sandgren Gives Welcome To Visiting Alumni

As the 1950 Homecoming week becomes a reality, Clyde D. Sandgren, speaking as president of the Alumni Association, extended a welcome to visiting alumni.

"It is always a thrill for BYU students of past years to return to their alma mater, but this Diamond Jubilee year is a particularly fitting time for Homecoming reunions. We look with pride at the growth that has taken place in campus facilities and student enrollment, and it is the purpose of the Alumni Association to keep pace with the advancements made by the university."

On behalf of the Executive committee of our association, I take pleasure in welcoming back to our campus all former students and friends of BYU who have returned for our annual homecoming.

"I'm sure that I speak for all of the visiting members of our Alumni Association when I thank the administration, faculty, students, and townspeople for the cordial reception and wonderful time we enjoy each Homecoming day."

Clyde D. Sandgren, President Brigham Young University Alumni Association.

BY THE EDITOR

What's in a Name?

"A rose by any other name would smell as sweet," according to Shakespeare, but the title of Brigham Young University's student newspaper continues to draw comment from those acquainted with the publication during its days as the "Y News."

The Brigham Young UNIVERSITY is the third title for the student organ since its first issue as the White and Blue in 1920-21. The paper was named the Y News in September, 1921, and continued until 1948, when it appeared to the student body as the Brigham Young UNIVERSITY.

The reason for the change, according to the paper's editor, Ken Price, were (1) to avoid confusion with organs of the YMCA and YWCA; (2) to avoid overworking the Y in official titles; (3) to avoid use of the too-common "News" as a paper title, and (4) because of unique qualities of pronunciation, connotation, and identification.

The Brigham Young UNIVERSITY carries the school's name in its title, a distinct advantage off the campus, and the implication of scope concerning news coverage on the campus.

Though there are those who are still unconvinced to the change, the UNIVERSITY has found its way into the hearts of the University, and will, under present policy, remain unchanged.

Old Yells and New Yells

Tomorrow, Homecoming activities will start, and many old grads will be here for the festivities. They will be telling tales of how the students of today don't compare with the students of yesterday when it comes to school spirit.

They will probably tell you that this younger generation couldn't yell its way out of a paper bag when it comes to cheering the old Cougar team on to victory. They will point out the times when they let the City of Provo know that the students were right behind their team, by really having some spirited pep rallies.

You may counter by telling them of some of the successful pep rallies that have been held this year, and about the abundance of yelling at the games. The alumni will probably laugh it off, by saying the cheers didn't carry very well over the radio. They are the kind that have to use it to believe that the present day student can have a pep rally that will even compare with the old hoop 'n' holler of days gone by.

So, students, the only way to prove to the old graduates that this present generation is not going to pot, is to really support the rallies, yell at the football game and really let people know that BYU still has some of that old "rock 'n' sock" spirit of the past.

Dale Barney.

Give a Little, Take a Little

The one thing which is absolutely essential to a decent future for this country is effective cooperation of responsible and intelligent people without regard to action, race or other group distinctions. Any such effective cooperation must be on a "give a little, take a little" basis. We will have to assume that everybody concerned wants the best for everybody concerned. If there is not enough understanding, the void must be filled by faith.

LAUNANIE, WVO, (IF)—A new "Chaperone File" has been established in the Dean of Women's office at the University of Wyoming, listing all faculty members eligible and their personal details, whether they be chaperoning formal dances or prefer other social functions. Cards are sent to each faculty member to be filled out and returned, in case they are interested in chaperoning.

Announcing the new social program here, Dean of Women E. Lucile Galloway said that at least two couples of chaperones must be present at social functions. Each couple is issued a "return report" to be filled out and returned to the Dean's office. This report states whether or not the chaperones were pleased with the conduct of those students attending the function.

Some of the questions on the report sheets include: 1. Were you provided transportation? 2. Did someone take your wraps? 3. Were you properly introduced? 4. Did the students who were on the floor committee show enthusiasm? 5. Were you asked to exchange dances? 6. Were you thanked for your courtesy?

The chaperones also check on any violation of University rules. The reports to the Dean of Women's office ask: 1. Was there any use of intoxicating liquors or beverages? 2. Smoking on the dance floor? 3. Prolonged absences from the dance and the building, including occupancy of parked cars?

Social groups on the campus are allowed to choose their own chaperones, if they are approved by Dean Galloway. A detailed report must be sent in by the group giving the social function. These reports contain information as to the type of costume to be worn, whether or not there will be corsages given, where the affair will be held, the time it is to begin, and the names of members of the floor committee. This report must be in the Dean's office before the function for her approval.

Honor Council Adds Two New Members

Two freshmen were approved as members of the Honor Council during a meeting of the Legislative Council, Monday night, in the Masser assembly.

Larri Hyle and Patricia Hales are to represent the freshmen class on the council, according to Gene Shumway, chairman. They will join the existing members of the group to maintain principles of the Honor Code.

The student congress also unanimously approved a proposed constitutional amendment to include as members of the Honor Council in the Legislative Council.

A proposed amendment to grant power to the graduate class to organize according to their needs was adopted by the assembly of 31 representatives, who also voted to place a discussion of revision of the Honor Code on the agenda for the next meeting.

First Recital Planned For Tuesday

The first of a series of recitals to be presented by the Brigham Young University music department will be held in Recital hall, Tuesday, at 7 p.m.

The series will continue on alternate Tuesdays throughout the year. The public is invited to attend.

To participate in the first recital are the following advanced music students: vocalists, Marjorie Hyde, Salt Lake, soprano; Lilly Glouster, Montpelier, Ida, soprano; Mary Bartow, Idaho Falls, Ida, soprano; and Howard Putnam, Woodruff, baritone. Pianists will be Bonnie Barrett, Provo; Lou Jean Compton, Morgan; Carol Clark, Provo; and Arden Watts, Idaho Falls, Ida. Susan Nelson, Forer, pianist; Wachi, violinist; and Richard Fox, Salt Lake, cellist, will also perform.

They will present compositions by Bach, Chopin, Debussy, Mendelssohn, Leontovitch, Borovick, Dell'Aquila and Schumann.

G.E.D. Exams Scheduled Today, Friday

The General Educational Development Tests of the United States National Forces Institute will be given at Brigham Young University, Thursday and Friday, Nov. 9 and 10, hours 1:00 to 6:00 p.m. each day. These tests will be given in room 115 in the Smith building.

Ex-service personnel and non-service individuals over 21 years of age, who desire to take these tests as a basis for meeting certain high school completion requirements, should contact the Counseling Service, room 329 Maeser building, phone 2499 ext. 113.

Applications must be turned in to the Counseling Service on or before Nov. 8. A fee of $3.00 is required of each person taking these tests.

Game Tickets On Sale Today

Tickets for the Brigham Young University-University of Wyoming homecoming football game will be given out at the studentbody office, Thursday and Friday, from 1:00 to 5:00 p.m., announced Al Choutey, business manager.

A limit of two tickets per person will be given and an activity card must be presented for each ticket. Married students wishing to take their non-student spouses can get tickets for $1.50.

Units Asked To Donate Old Floor Decorations

The studentbody has a limited amount of storage space available for used floor decorations. All units sponsoring floats are asked to turn their old decorations over to the studentbody instead of throwing them away. There has been a committee appointed to receive all contributions, sort and store them.

It should be understood, however, that in donating decorations the units relinquish all claim to them. All decorations received will be used for studentbody activities.

A shoe expert predicted today that women may soon be getting off their high heels. Maxwell Field, vice-president of the New England Shoe and Leather Association, said in Boston that women may soon take to low, casual shoes in greater numbers with buckles and bells for ornaments.

Jubilee Plates Still Available

Diamond Jubilee plates are still on sale in the Bookstore and in the alumni office. Suitable for Christmas gifts, the plates will be mailed anywhere for 35 cents, and packaged in an attractive gift box.

Club groups with more than a dozen members can purchase plates at a special rate of $2.50 a dozen rather than the usual $3.00.

The plate depicts the various campus buildings as well as an original classroom scene showing Dr. Karl Maeser teaching. Orders are coming in from widely separated parts of the United States for these plates, according to alumni officers.

World's Ills Discussed By Hazlitt

Henry Hazlitt, Newsweek columnist, addressed a young audience in the Provo tabernacle, Monday evening. The theme of his talk was "The Positive Value of Free Enterprise." Considering many interesting aspects of the capitalist system, he discussed reasons why socialism and communism are impractical.

The fight in Korea, he said, is only part of an ideological war. There are two economic systems, voluntary and coercive, and between them Lenin predicted a struggle to the end.

Control over man's subsistence amounts to control over his will," said Mr. Hazlitt. "To any system of freedom, law, morality, and faith must contribute."

Petitions for Freshman Class officers will be due in the student body office, Friday, Nov. 10, at 5 p.m. There will also be a meeting of candidates and/or their campaign managers at that time. Petitioners must have the signatures of 50 members of the freshman class. Accompanying the petitions must be three 5 by 7 pictures.

Primary elections will be held the 16 and 17 of Nov. and the finals will be held Nov. 21 and 22.

Hansen and Palmer Travel To Hawaiian Debate

Two debaters have been selected to represent Brigham Young University in a debate at the University of Hawaii next week, according to Dr. LaVar Stearns, debate coach.

Jack Hansen and Spencer Palmer won out over eight other finalists after giving a short talk advocating a solution to the national question. Eileen Schipper and Mark Anderson were chosen as alternates.

Jack, a senior from Klamath Falls, Ore., is 25 years old, married, and has filled a position in Australia. In 1948, he won the Delta Phi Extension Speech contest, and 1949 the Homer J. Grant Oratorical contest, and this year he is debate manager.

Spencer Palmer, a junior, is from Thatcher, Ariz., is 23, not married, and has filled a position in California. While in high school, Spencer won the Rotary International Oratorical contest. In 1949 he won the Delta Phi Extension Speech contest.

At Hawaii, two questions will be debated. BYU will take the negative in debating the national question, "Resolved: That the Non-Communist Nations Should Form a New International Organization." The question, "Resolved: That We Should Adopt President Truman's Point Four Program," will also be debated. The Hawaiian team will select Anyone interested is invited to attend.

KNIGHT TEMPLAR

The fall quarter initiation of the K.T. pledges came to a climax Sunday evening when a formal initiation was held. The initiation took place at Valley Mortuary under the direction of Ray Overton, Byron Toome, and F. A. Gutierrez.

LAMBDA DELTA SIGMA

All inactive members of Lambda Delta Sigma are asked to contact the staff office, 118 Smith building, according to president Edward Greaves.

Unless names of members not active appear on the official active list, they will be dropped automatically from the record.

The appointment of Stanley F. Forsyth, Gallatin, Nev., as unit athletic manager was announced recently.

Alpha Chapter is selling the Greek letters insignia of Lambda Delta Sigma as one of their projects for the year.

Over 150 students are registered for evening school classes this quarter. Among the subjects being taught are astronomy, business English, book of Mormon, office machines, beginning and advanced accounting, geology, and several education classes.

If enough students show an interest, new classes can be added winter quarter. Students interested in securing additional classes should check with Dr. Harold Clark in the extension division.

On the side of the question it wishes to take.

Jack and Spencer will fly to Honolulu with the football team when they leave to play the island university squad. Leaving November 14, the debaters and the football team plan to return November 21.

Diamond Diary Theme of Parade

Approximately forty floats are entered in the Homecoming parade for this Diamond Jubilee year. All are entered around the Diamond Diary theme.

Units of Cagaparras, Y. Calcas, White Keys, and other groups will march, led by the BYU band and the Call sisters. Utah county high school bands will also be present. The parade will start at 9:30, Saturday morning.

Prizes for the winners will be trophy cups, they will be offered for the most humorous float, the most original and unique, the float coming closest to the Diamond Diary theme, the most beautiful, and finally, a grand trophy for the best all-around float. Both Wyoming and the BYU set department will be represented on the panel of five judges awarding the prizes.

Members of the parade committee are Eileen Schipper and Lee Simmons, chairman, Roger Sant, Bonnie Davis, Janet Anderson, and Ann Walding.

Scholarships on the graduate level are in physical anthropology, archaeology, ethology, Mexican history, manuscript, painting, biological sciences, pediatrics, tropical medicine and cardiology.

All applications must be in not later than November 30, 1950. Interested students should see Dr. Harold W. Lee, 223 Physical Science building, for further information.

GETTING SET for the annual Brigadier Bowers Brewel this weekend are committee members Howard Johnson and Les Ludlow. Absent from the picture is Ned Christensen.

A whirl of dances and parties kept Y students busy last week-end social activities are reaching a maximum, with nearly the whole student body engaged in "extra-curricular" entertainment.

Delta Phi sponsored their annual dress girl dance last Friday night. Amid a dreamy atmosphere produced by Wes Berry and orchestra, missionaries and their dates celebrated at the semi-annual affair. Lenore Bennion, Delta Phi Dream Girl, was escorted by Ron Vincent.

Jean Greer and Bill Jones, Lloyd Redd and Shirley Roberts, and Ted Benson and Alice Brady were seen having a wonderful time. Last year's queen Fern Stoddard came with Red Andrus. Georgia liner and Karl Farnsworth, Maxine Leigh and Vern Miller, Marjorie Moulton and Elmo Turner, and Iris Bigler and Bill Farnsworth were also there to applaud the Delta Phi Chorus who made their season's debut with "There's Nothing Like a Dame," and "Dream Girl of Delta Phi" at intermission.

Cesta Tie had its invitational in the Smith ballroom Friday evening. Cesta, Betty Hayes, Elaine Engstrom, and Jean Hall appeared with Gil Christensen, Jack Bradbury, and Glen Davis. Other couples were Joyce Potter with Jack Whipple, who came up from the south (specially for the event); Grace Explin with Ralph Moran, Carolyn Madsen and John Jones, Lois Tucker with Dick Nelson, Jean McCance and Kay Harris, LoRene Hardy with Bill Burris.

Marilyn Geddes journeyed to Logan to attend the A. C. Inaugural ball with Doyle Tanner.

Bookstore Boner: Arva Green learned the hard way that seniors aren't so old as they look. She bet Les Ludlow, co-worker in the bookstore, that he was at least 26. Les protested that he hadn't been around the Y that long, but was forced to produce numerous credentials to prove that he was a mere 21. The bet? Arva will escort Les to a show soon.

Two Y couples took the final vows last week. Bob Craig married Charlene Bodmer, and Inez Jolley was married to Howard Jegg.

Charles Westover and Charles Thomas announced their engagement as did returned missionary Merrill Ashby, who is engaged to Jess Cottrill.

JoAnn Stringham and Dick Westonskow were planned recently. Congratulations go to the committee who promoted the inter-fraternity dance held last Saturday night for the success of the frolic, social unit men turned out in large numbers for the colorful and unique affair. Corky Lance and Faye Capps, Hal Meservy and Rena Burt, Kumen Smith and Hazel Doering, Jennie Marchant and George Hyde attended.

Also enjoying themselves were Nancy Burroughs and Johnny Aler, Marilyn Pack and Russell Taylor, Jeannie Cummings and Will Colbert, and Jackie Redd and Dean Wilson.

More people... Ned Christensen and June Merrill, Joyce Jennings and Ross Farnsworth, Flora Larson and Frank Patterson, Jan Tomney and Bob Crockett, Elsie Berruist and Dick Miller. Seems as if everyone were there, Vonda Christensen and John McCabe, Fada Johnson and Jim Solomon, Ellen Walker and Bud Jones, and Gene Peterson and Dick Fox.

Two one-act plays "The Monkey's Paw" and "Mansions" will be presented by the Mask Club in College Hall, Nov. 13, at 7 p.m. These dramas, filled with horror and psychological movement, will bewilder everyone with an evening of entertainment.

The Trend... of campus fashion

by Elaine Engstrom
Sunshine and warm desert breezes make comfortable clothes a must in Arizona, and topping the list of popular materials for year-round wear is cotton. The most famous brand in Arizona is called Pima cotton, and is made of native grown cotton fibers exclusively for one leading department store in Phoenix. Plain, print, striped, or plaid, it is used for every occasion. This cloth washes and irons very easily and retains its silky finish indefinitely.

In the picture, Elaine Engstrom wears a blue Pima cotton blouse featuring a scalloped collar and cuffs, and with it a corduroy jumper in the new brilliant tangerine shade. Corduroy is a marvelous material for nearly any climate and is especially nice where a heavy coat is seldom worn, as in Arizona.

Not only do Arizona coeds keep up with leading materials and styles, but they are forever coming forth in their own Valley-of-the-Sun fashions such as the ones worn by Joyce Campbell in the photograph. Not completely original, they were inspired by our Lamanite sisters. The velvet Indian princess blouse was first seen on a Navajo maiden, and the squash blossom necklace with its many turquoise sets is the pride and joy of any girl.

To own the largest collection of silver bracelets and rings is the aim of most Arizona girls.

The moccasins are a replica of the buckskin foot coverings worn by savages of many native tribes. Beaded or beaded, laced or buttoned with silver coins, they are strictly for comfort and not dexterity.

Another style of shoe, worn all summer long in Arizona by the most susceptible females, is the thong sandal. Barely resembling a shoe, it consists of a flat shaped sole, a strap around the top of the foot and a strap between the toes. Made in all colors and in neutral leather covered with brands, or fringed with leather and studded with silver, they are easy to get in and out of and are casual enough for any sport outfit.

You will find Arizona girls up to date on current styles and fads, and among the first to acknowledge new fashions, but in their own native surroundings they will usually be found dressed in attractive but casual clothes. May I add that it takes only a week or two for Eastern visitors to fall in to the trend and love it.

TO BE OR NOT TO BE—Workmen are doing their best to prepare the new million dollar fieldhouse for the Cougar's first home conference game with Utah State on January 12.

Workmen Aim For Fieldhouse Deadline Date

With hopeful expectancy, players, studentbody, faculty, coaches, and everyone else who is interested in collegiate sports, watch the progress of the new million dollar Brigham Young University fieldhouse.

January 12, BYU's conference season date with Utah State, has been set as a tentative deadline for completion of at least the main basketball floor and seating facilities. "Will the workmen crawl under the wire?" is the big question right now.

It's a hit-and-go proposition with chances for meeting the date about 25-50 right now, according to athletic director, Eddie Kimball. Everyone is doing his best, Mr. Kimball reports.

Brickwork is moving along rapidly, but, as the picture at the left indicates, there is much to be done yet.

Fresh Basketball Tourney Scheduled, Friday Set As Deadline For Entries

Freshman basketball hopefuls playing for ribbons or for fun will begin their annual tournament next Monday evening, according to Clarence Robinson, men's intramural director.

Only a few rules are binding on the teams that enter, making it possible for anyone with initiative to organize a team eligible to play.

All entries must be in to Mr. Robinson at the men's gym by Friday, Nov. 16. Each squad can carry eight men with no more than two players who have received basketball scholarships on their roster.

Three games a night, beginning at 8 p.m., will be played on Monday, Wednesday, and Friday, in the men's gym until the tourney is completed in approximately two weeks.

Judging from past years, there should be around fifteen teams entered in the tournament.

Pre-season Basketball Schedule

- Nov. 24—Regis College at Provo
- Nov. 25—Regis College at Provo
- Dec. 2—Niagara University at Buffalo
- Dec. 5—New York City College at Madison Square Garden
- Dec. 7—Eastern Kentucky at Richmond, Ky.
- Dec. 9—Marshall at Huntington, W. Va.
- Dec. 18—Indiana State at Provo
- Dec. 20—Indiana State at Provo
- Dec. 23-26-30—Conference Tournament

Cougars Cram For Cowboy Test, Hopes Hiked By Utah Hanging

by Dick Ricks

The nation's 14th ranking football team comes to Provo next Saturday, to be pounced upon by a snarling Cougar that has finally learned his own strength potential.

Prior to last Saturday's activities, when BYU showed its heels to Utah State 34-13, the Homecoming football game with the fourth platoon, power-laden Wyoming Cowboys, on Armistice Day, was considered a pending catastrophe underscored by the gentlemanly football players at BYU.

Now it's a different story. Quoting coach Chick Atkinson, "If our boys play this Saturday like they played last Saturday, Wyoming will be lucky to pull this one out." Such is the rising optimism—or shall we call it confidence—that is spreading through the Cougar camp.

Possibly, the Cougars have never been such one-sided underdogs in their football history as they will be Saturday against the "Cowpokes."

"Chick" expects the team to be full strength by Saturday. Dick Hill is his usual old self backing up the line, white hard running. Don Buxton and his injured ligament should have parted ways by that time.

Some of the players still look like mummies with all the tape they have wrapped around them, but it didn't hinder them in the Utah State game.

All the Cougars will have to do is stop the leading point-getter in Collegiate football, Eddie "Boom Boom" Talboom, a definite all-American candidate. Also a threat is his hard-running sophomore replacement, Harry Golden, who scored four touchdowns against New Mexico.

In practice this week, the Cougars have a real problem on their hands. Wyoming uses the single wing attack, and the Cats must devise a means of shifting their defense in order to meet it. The Cougar ends may be in for a busy time.

The Cougars aren't discouraged over the fact that Wyoming has only had an average of five points per game scored against them this year.

Cat Cage Crew Feels First Cut

The axe has fallen and five men have been cut from the BYU basketball team. Coach Stan Watts has cut his 22-man squad to 17, and has still two more to cut. "It is going to be a tough job cutting off two of these men," Coach Watts said. He is in no hurry to wield the axe and wants to take his time so all will have a fair chance. The squad must be cut to 15 when competition commences.

Those who comprise the present 17-man squad include six seniors, three juniors, and eight sophomores. The seniors are returning lettermen from last year's championship team. They are Mel Hutchins, Roland Minson, Russell Millman, Dick Jones, Bob Craig, and Wayne Cottle.

The juniors consist of two new men, Kent Durrant and Monty Montgomery, and Jerry Romney, last year letterman.

And giving the upper classmen a real time of it are, Joe Richey and Harold Christensen (both high school all-Americans), Don Malmrose, Lorin Dunn, Boyd Jarman, Jimmy Thorne, Ralph Olsen, and Leon Heaps.

It is easy to see what a job coach Watts has, when competition is so keen.

The Cougars have a stiff schedule this year, playing 11 pre-season games, which includes the annual conference tourney in Denver, and 20 conference games.

ALL CONFERENCE CANDIDATE—Rampant Rex Berry will play his last collegiate conference game against Wyoming, Saturday. The triple threat backfielder with a 40.7 yard passing average held down ninth place in the nation in that division according to the last NCAA release. His three boots for 140 yards against the Farmers should boost him in the standings.

Cats Rated Seventh In Nation In Pre-Season Basketball Poll

Two current national magazines rate the Brigham Young University basketball team among the top ten in the nation.

In its 1951 forecast, Liberty magazine gives BYU ninth place in an article by Clair Bee of Long Island University and Haskell Cohen, sports writer. They also place Mel Hutchins on the pre-season second team.

The winter edition of All-Star Sports Magazine ranks the Cougars in seventh place.

Be that as it may, coach Stan Watts is struggling to round out a smooth-working machine, even though the gym is crowded with talent.

Couch Watts is still keeping an open mind on positions. Nothing is definite yet, and individual talent is showing up so strongly that even stalwarts like Hutchins and Minson may have to shift from last year's positions. Jarman is working well at center and may cause Hutch to shift to forward.

And with Richey striving to take over the point-making chore, carried last year by Joe Nelson, Minson may move to a guard spot.

And that is Watts' job. He's loaded with stars, but gearing them into a smooth starting quint may take some doing.

Skyline Sets Full Slate This Weekend

All Skyline teams will see action this week as Utah's three entries tangle with the toughest on the other side of the hill.

While Brigham Young University is playing host to the Wyoming Cowboys, Utah and Utah State will journey to Fort Collins

Meet Your University

by Marilyn Redd

"Living is vitalized, and is made beautiful and meaningful through art," declared Bent F. Larsen in a recent interview.

Professor Larsen, chairman of the Brigham Young University art department since 1931, knows what he's talking about. A graduate of BYU, he received his master's degree at the University of Utah and did graduate work in education at the University of Chicago. He is extremely well qualified in his field, having passed the supreme test of an artist, that of successful exhibition of his work in famous foreign art salons.

According to Professor Larsen, BYU's art department is striving to give its students opportunities for personal contact with works of art by reputable artists. This aim is being accomplished through a program of informal talks and demonstrations on art, and by distribution of the "Te" collection of paintings in the halls and offices of the school.

During Professor Larsen's management, the department, with very little financial appropriation, has collected close to 1000 original paintings and an almost unbelievable amount of prints. This assemblage includes several important collections, most notable of which are 82 pictures by the late Maynard Dixon, widely-known western artist.

Professor Larsen stated rather vividly that the department's greatest need is an art gallery which would provide the opportunity to raise the standard of art appreciation among the Y student body and the public.

Homecoming Assembly

All alumni will be officially welcomed to Homecoming at an assembly to be held in the J S auditorium, at 11:00 a. m. Saturday, immediately following the parade. The assembly is being sponsored jointly by the alumni, students, and faculty.

Students as well as alumni are to attend the assembly. Winning floats in the parade will be announced at this time and prizes awarded.

Banyan Picture Appointment Dates Announced

All Brigham Young University club presidents should contact Keith Orme, Banyan Business manager, before December 13, to make arrangements for having Banyan club pictures taken, the Banyan office announced.

Presidents must pay for the club's page in the Banyan, and sign a contract before December 19. Banyan office hours are from 2 to 5 p. m.

Pictures of the departmental and geographical clubs must be taken before Christmas vacation begins, December 13, and the presidents of these clubs are urged to complete arrangements as soon as possible.

Definite appointments for club pictures have not yet been scheduled.

The student body office has announced that election campaigning will be prohibited between 12:00 noon and 1:00 p. m. in the area of the loop around the Joseph Smith building. Campaigning in this area has interrupted classes so much that it has become necessary to stop it.

PROFESSOR B. F. LARSEN

Date Announced For Grant

Oratorical Contest

The Heber J. Grant Oratorical Contest has been set for Nov. 21, at the eleven o'clock faculty devotional, according to Dr. T. Earl Payson, Faculty Awards Chairman. All students of this university are eligible for this contest. All students interested should turn in their applications to Dr. Payson or Dr. LaVar Peterson, Chairman of the Yereaux Committee. Tryouts will be conducted by Nov. 18.

Members of the Heber J. Grant family will be present during the contest, and one will give a suitable prize to the winner. President Grant inaugurated the contest to encourage better speaking. It is being carried on by his family in honor of their father.
